The Invention

Once upon a time there was a school that had a principal named Mr. Estell who loved science. He invented the auto breakfast. It is a tube that pours milk then frosted flakes. Then he invented the body/clothes washer. So kid would not have to walk around wet and sticky. The kids loved him so much that they would come have brunch and not lunch.

Mrs. McAllister was a librarian who had good ideas but couldn't work with tools. The tech teacher, named Mrs. Kitson was a genius with electronics but couldn't think. They started to talk and learned they can work together to get the people back before they get fired. Mrs. McAllister said "for the lab we should make headphones with microphones attached so you don't have to type you can speak and it goes in the computer. For the library we will make a headphone and a tiny TV in the book. Your mind goes black then you become the character of the book. Do like it?"

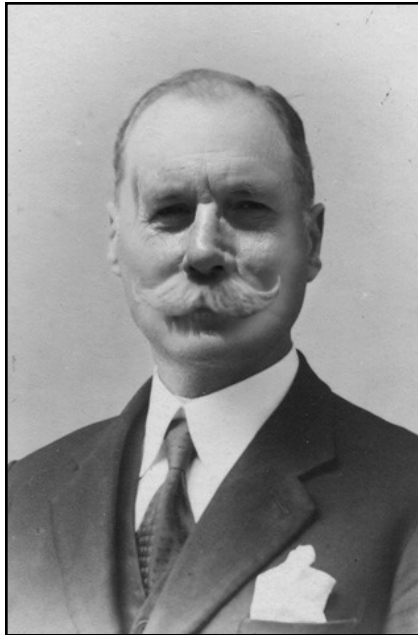

"I love it so much. Lets start." The 2 women were building like mad men. They worked day and night to get it done.

They put up signs to come to the lab and library and check it out. One out of 400 kids believed. The kid thought that Mr. Estell was the only mad inventor in the school.

They showed the teachers that they had made inventions and the teachers showed the kid the invention. The kid showed their friends and they stopped going to Mr. Estell.

Mr. Estell was jealous and desperate so he asked them to close the library and lab. Instead of closing things the kids got the teachers together and they worked together to invent the most amazing flying car. They gave Mr. Estell all the credit.

The very famous inventor of the auto breakfast and the body/clothes washer, Mr. Estell.

Newsflash!

Cooper Wood reporting from 9 news, this just in, two women by the name of Ms. Kitson and Ms. McAllister take a dive.

Yesterday two women are caught on tape skydiving. They weren't just falling with a parachute though, Ms. Kitson, was on her bike, and Ms. McAllister was reading her favorite newspaper, Lions Offline.

It sounds crazy enough, but it doesn't end there, they were wearing blue & orange wigs too. They did this all to celebrate the broncos going to the Super Bowl and there favorite things to do. It's been a huge hit all around the internet, and now are billionaires. Ms. Kitson has bought a outdoor mountain bike track, and Ms. McAllister now owns a library. This has been Cooper Wood, reporting from 9 news.

Newspaper Club has been very fun. I love it and hope that in fifth grade there will be one. I think I am very lucky to have been chosen to be in Newspaper Club. I hope you'll do it next year so other kids can experience how fun this is.

CRIMINALS ON THE RUN!

Warning! Hide your books and computers because here in Salida there have been mysterious disappearances of both. Sheriff Estell and the fellow policeman are pretty sure who's done it but can't seem to catch them. The suspects are: Penny Kitson and Schuyler Mcallister. If you see either of these women please report to the sheriff or any other police officers you see.

Penny Kitson is sly and can steal a computer and all the wires in the blink of an eye. Also she has only struck at dawn and dusk so be watching then.

Schuyler Mcallister is also quite crafty when it comes to stealing books. Why just yesterday while my neighbor was gone I saw her steal all her books in thirty seconds flat.

News update. Just two hours ago Charlie Rahe caught Kitson, tied her up, and brought her to the police station. Just one hour ago Tanya Stewart caught Mcallister and also brought her to the police station.

Sheriff Estell has finally come up with a punishment. He will force them to teach at an elementary school and to make sure they don't escape the doors will lock from the outside.

ADVENTURES IN ZIGZAG

Once upon a time there were these girls which we call Mrs. Kitson and Mrs. McAllister that were very crazy. They once even went across the world with 20 foot long earrings and a lot of cloths with crazy colors dangling. They had to be the most craziest people in the world but fun too. Ok, back to the story . Mrs. McAllister and Mrs. Kitson went across the world but then one day they went to a place called zigzag. Now zigzag was a very strange place. It was so strange because the people kind of talked like Asian people and that was not familiar to the girls. So then of course the girls tried to learn the people's strange language in a book. But when they looked in the book a lion got a hold of the girls and dragged them into the strange world of theirs in the book. The world had very slimy and just gross creatures. But finally Mrs. Kitson and Mrs. McAllister figured they could be friends with the slimy creatures. So, after that they made friends with people with very weird names like Kona and Moshi Boshi and grouped them together to make a great newspaper club. The End!!!!

I have loved newspaper club so much. Also I have learned a lot from Mrs. Kitson and Mrs. McAllister these days. I just hope you loved my articles in newspaper club. Bye!! Wish me luck for getting in newspaper club next year!!!!!!!!!!!!

EXTRA! EXTRA! READ ALL ABOUT IT!

Mrs. McAllister was seen riding a Rainbow Unicorn over the Eiffel Tower in Paris France. McAllister was wearing blue tights with mini green and red clown faces on them and a pink and purple shirt that said: "I Love Newspaper Club!". Mrs. Kitson was seen in Hawaii surfing the title waves with her newest friend, a shark! Kitson nicknamed the shark, "Billy Bob Joe" even though the shark would splash her every time she called him that. She was also seen at a yellow jello eating contest where she fought her way to the shining gold medal. Kitson won by throwing extra jello at the other contestants to distract them from their jello eating frenzy! Wow, those two sure are the most silly, fun and helpful teachers in the world! We sure will miss them when we all fly away to the middle school. Thank you Mrs. McAllister and Mrs. Kitson for making Newspaper Club the most fun learning experience I have ever had. We love you guys! ♥

Thank you for everything you have done. I am so glad that I got the opportunity to be in newspaper club. So, here is a short story about you two, and how much I appreciate you guys.

" Do you know how to write, type, and interview better? Just come to Mrs. Kitson and Mrs. McAllister." These two nice teachers helped me and 8 other kids in newspaper club. They taught me how to interview and write better by explaining everything there is to know about writing and interviewing. I am so so so thankful for these two great teachers. Without you, I would not be a good writer like I am now. Thanks to you two! You made me laugh, smile, and lift my spirits up. I can not thank you enough. Have a great rest of the year. Thank you.

THE CRAZY DREAM

One week ago, while riding a goat,
 I saw Ms. McAllister, on a flying boat.
 Ms. Kitson was sitting a few feet from her,
 And as I watched them, I heard a cat purr.
 I turned around, only to find,
 That the cat was suddenly losing his mind.
 It ran around jumping and eating some pie,
 While the teachers came down from their boat and said, "Hi!"
 I thought I was crazy, but then I awoke,
 And suddenly knew that I had thought it up.

I enjoyed newspaper and suggest for future students at Longfellow Elementary to continue the club. It was fun to interview the teachers and learn more about their lives and hobbies, like learning that Mrs. Ludwig plays Roller derby, or that Mrs. Wagle won an art contest in Durango. Even though I had only a few articles, I enjoyed writing them. It taught me more about preparing nonfiction information and then writing about it. It really helped me.

CRIME SPREE

Schuyler McCallister and Penny Kitson were recently apprehended outside of Big Bob's Belly Bustin' Barbeque and Bistro in Brownsville, Texas. The two were arrested after robbing the First Salida Savings and Loan. They were on their way to Mexico to drink margaritas on the beach, but stopped at the restaurant for ribs and mashed potatoes. They robbed the bank by threatening the tellers with the business end of two angry skunks and got away with $14,000,000. When asked why they committed the crime they said, "If you had to deal with those kids all year, you would do it too." No one was hurt during the robbery, but one of the tellers was allergic to skunks, so her face swelled and she passed out. All the money was recovered except the money spent at Big Bob's Belly Bustin' Barbeque and Bistro. They have also committed other crimes such as: Stealing a Slurpee from 7 11, hi/jacking the car of Michelle Obama, and getting into a fight with a monkey at the zoo. Their punishment is no ribs and mashed potatoes for a whole year.

FLYING UNICORNS!

Guess What! The other day Mr. Estell was in a high speed chase down the 4th grade field after Ms. McCallister and Ms. Kitson for flying too high on their unicorns. We don't have any pictures of the suspects. This month has been complete chaos considering Mr. Estell announced that he is really an undercover NFL player hoping to scout out players for next years tryouts. What's next, a giant spider crushing the school? Who knows?

Newspaper was one of my favorite things in fourth grade it has been a great time and I hope to be in it next year or in high school. Thank you Ms. McAllister and Ms. Kitson newspaper could not be as it is without you. This is Ben Fuller reporter at Longfellow.
